Dino Morea is back. The actor who turned producer recently with Jism 2, has gifted Mumbai the fitness mantra with his product DM Fitness. Dino's old friend and co star from a few films, Bipasha Basu launched the first set of machines to help Mumbai control its waistline and regulate the heartbeat. Politician Sachin Ahir, his wife Sangeeta Ahir and Manish Agarwal from Bombay Realty were also spotted

DM Fitness is a series of fixed stations which can be used by the people of Mumbai free of cost. "We give the people an opportunity to exercise. It's all functional training. It will be set up on small hundred square feet areas across the city."

Bipasha is a fantastic human being. She has always been there for me and even I have always been there for her," Dino, who dated her in the late 1990s and even worked with her in the hit movie Raaz

I share a very great relationship with her right now. Yes, we were dating each other at one point of time and people tend to overlook it at the other way. We are very close to each other and we share a very strong bond."

After dating for about five years, the two drifted apart and Bipasha started dating John Abraham. However, she broke up with John as well.
