Ram Gopal Varma, who has directed upcoming film The Attacks Of 26/11, is probably grinning from ear to ear right now. Buzz has it that his film, which is based on the horrific November 26 attacks, has been selected for the Berlin film festival.

Parag Sanghavi, the producer of the film was quoted saying that he is quite happy about persuading Ram Gopal Varma to make this film in the first place. He also added that it is an honour for him and the film team to be a part of the prestigious Berlin film festival.

The film, which stars Nana Patekar in the role of ATS chief Rakesh Maria, is slated to release on March 1 next year.
