If Salman Khan hogs the box office at Eid, Aamir Khan's lucky slot is the Christmas weekend. The superstar will continue his Christmas date at the movies with Peekay this year.

The release of Peekay directed by Rajkumar Hirani has been locked. Previously slated to release on June 6, the movie has now been postponed to December 25, which is Thursday and will let the film enjoy an extended 4-day weekend at the ticket windows.

"Hey guys, PK release date is finally locked.... this Christmas.... my lucky date!!! Jai Ho!!!" Aamir Khan confirmed on Twitter.

The superstar has lately been busy promoting Salman Khan's Jai Ho on the microblogging site and has expressed his interest in watching the flick at the earliest.

In fact, the last quarter of 2014 would be a treat for the movie buffs, for Shahrukh Khan has already locked a Diwali release for his multistarrer entertainer Happy New Year.

Meanwhile, midway through the year, Salman Khan plans to take the box office by storm with his Kick on July 27, keeping his date with Eid-ul-Fitr.

So, Eid, Diwali and Christmas, all the major festivals of 2014 are booked by the Khans.
