Akshay Kumar and Salman Khan groove together to the title song of the coming youth comedy Fugly.

Salman Khan makes a special appearance in the title song and shows some of his cool dance moves with Akshay Kumar. But it's the latter who gets more footage. Still claiming more screen time in the video are the film's actors Mohit Marwah, Vijender Singh, Kiara Advani and Arfi Lamba.

The song's lyrics, penned by Yo Yo Honey Singh, talks of the issues that affect today's youth: from Article 377 to Jessica Lal murder case.

The track is sung by Yo Yo Honey Singh and has a catchy vibe to it.

Fans may gripe about little screen time that Salman Khan has in the song, but in that short span the superstar does show some groovy dance moves.

This is the fourth time Akshay Kumar and Salman Khan have teamed up on screen. They've done two films together: Mujhse Shaadi Karogi and Jaan-e-Man. They also shot for a special song 'Wallah re wallah' in Tees Maar Khan.
