Rani Mukherji will appeal to the Police Commissioners of various cities to provide basic facilities, to have loos female officials in crime branches.

While Rani Mukherji was prepping up for her role as the crime branch officer in her upcoming next film, Mardaani, she visited various offices to absorb the atmosphere there and get a sense of how they work there.

On her visits, she was surprised and taken aback to know that the female officials in these offices did not have basic facilities like separate loos.

When Rani learnt about this issue, she decided to put in her word to the concerned authorities to make the necessary amendment. Since there are such important women officers at top ranking posts they should be able to put in a word too.

It is an extremely important matter according to her and requires immediate attention. Rani hopes that some steps will be taken towards this voice that has been raised by her.
