Everyone is talking about Ranveer Singh's cameo in Finding Fanny. But no one really knows that Ranveer did it for free!

Homi confirms, “Ya! Ranveer is a friend man, so he did it for a laugh! We were sitting around and I was telling him the story of Finding Fanny and he said I’ll play Gabo (the character) – he was laughing but was dead serious. I told him that I’d need him in Goa for half a day of shoot but we all had so much fun that he ended up staying for over a week after he was done. Ranveer’s energy is infectious and when the material is right I know we’ll be able to create some magic in a film someday.”

Homi is crediting Ranveer's cameo as a short-lived appearance in Finding Fanny that releases on September 12. The film is a comical story about five persons who venture out to find Stefanie Fernandes (Fanny). In the process, they discover a strange sense of solace and love among each other, and end up seeing a point to their previously pointless lives.
