After the mega success of Oh My God, the makers of film now all set to bring the sequel of the film. The director Umesh Shukla, who did his directorial debut with 'Oh My God', has almost finalized the script of sequel, which will be a complete fresh story.

Shukla has confirmed the news in a recent interview saying that everything related to the script will be finalized in next three to four days.

This time the sequel will have a completely different story. It is based on religion and other issues related to religion. As the first film was, the sequel will also be an eye-opener. It will not be a continuation of first one; it will be eye-opening but Masala entertaining film.

'Oh My God' was co-produced by Ashvini Yardi, Akshay Kumar and Paresh Rawal, where Akshay & paresh played the leading roles. Both Akshay & paresh will also be seen in sequel.
