

Duma Dam Mast Kalandar in David

•Written by Amit Bachchan•

••Friday•, 18 •January• 2013 04:48• - •Last Updated•

••Monday•, 21 •January• 2013 18:40•

Bejoy Nambiar's upcoming film, David, have got into trouble over the popular folk song "Dama dam Mast Kalandar."

The song used in the movie has been opposed to by the Sindhi Community. They have complained against the song and requested the makers, Reliance Entertainment and Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC) to take the song off air, as it send out a wrong message, the way it is portrayed.

The song was originally written by poet Aamir Khusro and then modified by Sufi poet Bulleh Shah. It was composed in the honour of the most revered spiritual figures in the Sindhi Community, Shahbaz Qalandar and Jhulelal. The email sent to the film maker had issues with the love making scenes and violence scenes picturised in the song.

The complainant Manoj Matai said, "Our community is fragmented, but there are certain things we hold close to our heart. One of them is this song as it represents our culture. When the films promo shows violence and lovemaking sequences while the song is being played, it gives the wrong impression. It's my sincere request that this is taken into consideration and they take it off air. I hope this does not work as a publicity stunt."

Duma Dam Mast Kalandar in David

•Written by Amit Bachchan•

••Friday•, 18 •January• 2013 04:48• - •Last Updated•

••Monday•, 21 •January• 2013 18:40•

When asked Bejoy, he said, "We have used this song because it is iconic and offers an instant connect with million of people. In the film, the song is played during a wedding. There is no intention to hurt the religious sentiments of any community"