Recently we have been seeing the Gunday, Ranveer Singh and Arjun Kapoor not only making entries and exits together at parties, events and award functions, but the two heroes are also seen dressing similarly.

The camaraderie between the two boys has been the talk of the town. Be it on Karan Johar's chat show or Deepika's party, the two boys were seen sharing a very strong chemistry. So much so, that they have also been wearing similar outfits.. For instance, we saw both Ranveer and Arjun sporting leather jackets and boots during a song launch event that happened recently...

Also when they went to promote the film to Radio Mirchi, they decided to wear a similar print shirt with a white ganji inside.

Even Star Guild Awards saw the two wearing their classic black suit. As we can see in the trailer as well, the two boys are wearing similar outfits.

The film is a full on masala film which is slated to release on 14th February 2014
