Heropanti's dashing debutant Tiger Shroff is just one movie trailer old, but that hasn't stopped him from garnering a major fan base. Last weekend, the handsome actor was mobbed while on his way to Karjat for a song shoot. Few college going girls spotted him en-route and began screaming out Tiger's name. Their chants were loud enough to make his driver stop the car. Only after Tiger spoke to all of them and gave them his autograph did the girls calm down and let him drive on.

The trailer for Heropanti has been receiving rave reviews, particularly for Tiger's world-class action sequences and his perfectly chiseled body. It seems like all the hard work the actor has put in has yielded exceptional results. The 'Whistle Baja' song and step has connected with audiences all over in just 2 days after release, and is well on its way to becoming a sure fire hit.

Heropanti is a coming of age love story of two young conflicting protagonists and their battles with society. Presented by UTV Motion Pictures & Nadiadwala Grandson Entertainment and directed by Sabbir Khan, the movie is slated to release on 23rd May, 2014.
