Salman Khan looks his stunning best in these new posters of the coming release Kick.

While the countdown to the release of Kick, starring Salman Khan as a smart thief, is already on, we bring you some new posters from the film.

This one has Salman Khan as the black-clad 'Devil'. He looks jawdroppingly handsome in that thief suit with a knife and gun buckled at this waist and the Devil mask in his hand. He walks with swagger on a road with explosions going off in the backdrop.

The film promises high-octane stunts, action and pyrotechnics on a par with Hollywood actioners. There's one chase sequence that was shot in Old Delhi. In it Salman Khan is seen giving the cops a slip on his bicycle.

Another action sequence has Salman Khan jumping off the 40th floor of Palace of Culture and Science: the tallest building (237 metres) in Poland.

In Kick Salman Khan plays the masked Devil jumping from buildings and bridges, riding bikes on rooftops, and walking across a railway track with a high-speed train just brushing past him. Randeep Hooda plays a decorated cop who's not been able to catch the Devil. Jacqueline Fernandez plays Salman's love interest.

The film by director-producer Sajid Nadiadwala will hit theatres on July 25.
