The success of the movie 'Force' was not only credited to its Hero John Abraham, But also goes to the villain Vidyut Jamwal. Post Force, Vidyut was flooded with offers and was appreciated in Bollywood for his performance and Physique.

It's time for another feather in Vidyut's cap as an honor, The actor has been ranked among the top five fittest men of 2012 by Men's Health magazine alongside Hrithik Roshan and wrestling champion Yogeshwar Dutt. Vidyut is now the newest entrant in the fitness space which was associated with the likes of Salman Khan, Hrithik Roshan and John Abraham. Men's Health magazine has ranked him one of the top five fittest men of 2012. The actor was also seen in south-indian mega budgeted action thriller 'Thuppakki' directed by A.R.Murugadoss (Ghajini fame). The film is being re-made in hindi along with Akshay Kumar and Sonakshi Sinha and Vidyut will reprise his same role.

Vidyut has also been voted as one of Sexiest Men Alive in 2012 by People magazine.
