A lot has been happening for Anushka Sharma lately. She was shooting for Dil Dhadakne Do in Turkey and then flew over to London during the weekend to be with her alleged beau Virat Kohli.

Interestingly, Deepika Padukone also took a detour to Istanbul to spend some time with her man Ranveer Singh on his birthday (July 6), before she starts the shoot for Tamashain France. Did Anushka try to avoid Deepika by flying to London?

Apparently, Anushka Sharma wanted to meet Virat Kohli, who is currently in London as part of his cricket tour. The actress has so far denied being in a relationship with the cricketer, but Virat is a regular visitor to her flat, and whenever possible the two meet up even when Anushka shoots outdoor.

It's learnt that on Sunday evening, Anushka Sharma was spotted with Virat Kohli at a Central London hotel. As per reports, both Anushka and Virat wore matching black clothes. While other cricketers went down to the hotel's restaurant to have dinner, this couple probably headed out for a private dinner.

Buzz is also strong that Anushka is a little insecure about Virat. Sources claim that Anushka arrived in London after watching Virat's picture with English women cricketer Danielle Wyatt (see the photo on the next page). The sexy sports woman is quite floored by Virat's charm, and has even expressed her liking for the cricketer, proposing him earlier on Twitter.

Whatever be the reason for Anushka Sharma's visit to Nottingham, it seems the two lovebirds can't stay away from each other for long.
