Evelyn Sharma is no stranger to the international entertainment scenario. After having started off as a model across the world, Evelyn made her debut in an American film before making her way into Bollywood. Seems like this pretty lass is now all set again to make waves internationally as she gears up for her debut as a singer!

Unlike other Indian actors, Evelyn's song is not a Indi-Pop number; but a part of the alternative genre that is less commercial and more music. Always having been a shy singer, Evelyn was encouraged by her friends to consider singing commercially and it all came to place when she was approached by a renowned Indo-American rapper, Brooklyn Shanti for his album. Interestingly Brooklyn Shanti met Evelyn on the sets of 'From Sydney With Love' a movie for which Brooklyn Shanti composed music for. That's where he discovered Evelyn's singing prowess.

Not only did Evelyn give the song her voice, she also turned writer and wrote the entire piece which Brooklyn Shanti produced. The song called Something Beautiful; is a song very close to Evelyn and it speaks about herself and her journey. It's about how at a point in time, she didn't feel beautiful or talented but then someone else ends up seeing what you can't in yourself. The song is meant to be a motivation for others to believe in themselves.

The album is slated for an August release and has been shot completely in New York. Evelyn will be seen sporting exquisite gowns in the music video by her designer friends Rocky S, Sonaakshi Raaj & Wendell Rodrick s. Evelyn in her teens sang for her Church Choir, and that's what nurtured her singing while today she is set to debut at an International Platform. What's exciting is, post this single she's also gearing up to release her first solo album.
