Movie Preview R...RAJKUMAR Rajkumar (Shahid Kapoor) is an aimless youth who works for a drug baron named Shivraj (Sonu Sood). His latest mission is to kill a rival dealer named Manik Parmar (Ashish Vidyarthi). But Rajkumar's life changes forever when he claps eyes on the beautiful, educated Chanda (Sonakshi Sinha).

What he doesn't know is that Chanda is an orphan who's been raised by her uncle - Manik Parmar! After some persistent wooing, Chanda falls for Rajkumar's charms. But in order for their love to flourish, he must destroy the drug cartel to which both Shivraj and Parmar owe allegiance, which is controlled by a Mafia don named Ajit Taaka (Srihari), who operates out of Malaysia. And back to marry with Chanda.

Music: The album soars high with its boisterous tapori songs and makes itself worth your time. 'Gandi Baat' is the stand out track of the album though it is strongly contested by 'Mat Maari' and 'Saree kefall sa'. 'Kaddoo Katega' and 'Dhokha Dhadi' don't hold your attention for long. Overall, this album has enough exuberance to last you a couple of weeks –almost a silver jubilee equivalent for our times!

Critical Response Film will receive average to good reviews as such films that too of over the top masala genre get not so great reviews.

Final Verdict: Film should take decent to good start due to Prabhu Dheva factor but recent record of Shahid at box office raises few doubts. So overall it will be a good opening but film will be heavily dependent on word of mouth especially among masses. Film is a very crucial one for Shahid and his last big shot
